Evaluation & Granting Process

An independent Jury of established film and TV professionals will evaluate eligible applications in Cinema and TV categories and will decide on the selection process. Their assessment will consider projects' originality, creative merit, feasibility, as well as the filmmakers' credentials and abilities.

It is the Jury's decision to ask Directors/Producers applying for Production and Post-Production Categories (Narrative and Documentary) to pitch their projects if there is a need to do so. The Jury's decision will be final and the applicants will be informed in writing of the decision.

Selected projects by the Jury will enter the point-based system evaluation process to determine the value of each fund accordingly. The amount allocated to selected projects might vary from one project to another; projects with higher points will be eligible for a bigger percentage of funding, and those achieving lower points will be eligible for a smaller percentage of funding (check the table below for details).
